

Navigation Check

Home Page

1. From the home page we do not need the ability to create projects on Mobile. This would be extremely tedious.

2. The Icon would that be where the user's profile information would be? Currently not active. This is also where the schedule should be placed. Right now the schedule is inside a project but it needs to be on the outside so installers know which projects they are scheduled for and when.

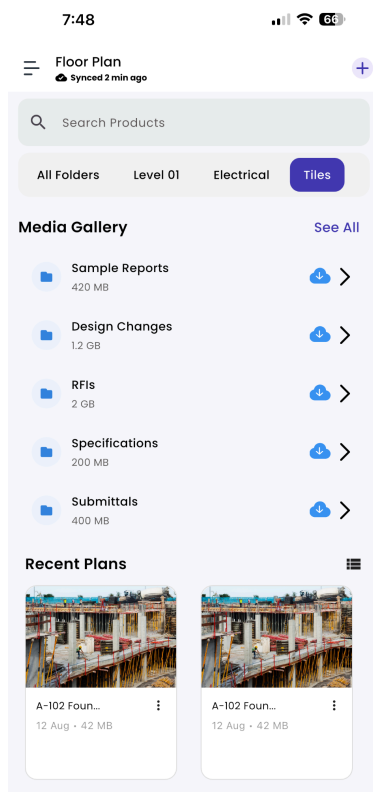

3. Notification Icon - I think we should have these inside the projects as most will be working from within a project the entire day and not backing out to the home page.

4. I think the notification Icon and Message Icon should be separate. This way messages are not just ignored when there is a unread message.

5. It says search products instead of search projects.

6. The icon beside the notification icon is that to sync all projects?

Plan View

1. Why does it say Media Gallery? Is this just the floor plans? We don't need the ability to add plans from Mobile either.

2. I don't see the ability to create plan folders, although this is usually done via the web as well. This is not a big deal.

3. I couldn't open any of the plans to really see what it looks like inside the plan view and how the pins are located but I presume that will be addressed later?

- Tasks need to be created so we can see the quantity of items in each category/sub category (picture is from fieldwire)

Task View

For this can we ensure we have more sorting/filter abilities. Currently there is status. We would need sub category and tags (flags) as well.

Inside a Specific Task

Hard to understand what is going on in here.

Where will the comments be displayed? And the photos will be inline with the comments?

What is the details and where is the picture and pin being generated from? Is this the mini map plan view?

The buttons on the bottom are too hard to click. Due to the swipe up to close program function on iphone we cannot click the buttons.

When you click the pencil (edit icon) - The heading is called Create task instead of edit task its a little confusing. But it seems to take you to the task creation menu instead of editing the details on the task you are working on.

It seems the task edit navigation is not completed yet?
